| IX. Advocacy and Legislation Workgroup Report   | • Advocacy and legislation workgroup is working with the Local Child Planning Council to write a proposal to Assemblyman Frazier that would create a county wide child care subsidy pilot that will maximize allocated funding and efficiently use child care subsidy funds to meet local conditions, providing children and families access to quality child care. This type of pilot has been rolled out in San Francisco, Alameda, San Mateo, and Santa Clara Counties. Additionally, Fresno County is looking at a similar measure.
• The beauty of the pilot proposal is that it does not cost anything. All funds the county has been required to give back to the state will stay in our county. Solano County had to give back over $1 million dollars a few years ago. Additionally, the money the county keeps with the pilot, can be used to bring back funding for the Centralized Eligibility List (CEL) (estimated at $70,000) that will allow parents to have greater access to subsidized child care and developmental services. Families will sign up for all subsidized child care programs at one time and one place. This exemplifies “one stop shopping.”
• For additional questions or concerns please contact Alan or Nadirah Jones at the Children’s Network.                                                                                           |              |
| X. Adjournment                                  | Meeting adjourned at 2:00pm                                                                                                                                                                               |              |

ALLIANCE WORKGROUP PRIORITIES FOR 2016-2017 FISCAL YEAR

Work Group 1: Advocacy and Legislation:
SCA should continue to play an active role in legislative and budget issues and continue active involvement in advocacy and education.

Priorities to focus on for 2016-2017
1. Plan and Coordinate Fall Convening Meeting addressing gaps in services
3. Staff continue to attend BOS County Legislative Committee, along with interested Alliance Members
4. Add K-12 Education, and Youth Employment to Priority Bills
5. Prioritize State Budget Issues to be followed by the Alliance
6. Consider recommending a legislative initiative to local legislators
7. Provide local and state budget advocacy to Board of Supervisors and State Legislature
8. Schedule meetings with local legislators, including City officials after the Policy Forum to share results, and next steps
9. Promote and Advocate for the Solano fund for Children that will bring in sustainable dollars for prevention services in Solano County

3. Create an annual campaign, possibly in Fall as we get closer to the November election
4. Consider an op-ed letter writing campaign

Work Group 4: CAPC Activities

Alliance Work Group Members and CN Staff: Debbie Powell, Gloria Diaz, Pam Dixon, Susan Ferdinandi, Debbie Powell, Aaron Crutison, Adrienne Carson, Maria Vicondoa, Candy
ALLIANCE WORKGROUP PRIORITIES FOR 2016-2017 FISCAL YEAR

Pierce, Guadalupe Lopez

Priorities to Focus on for 2016/2017

1. There continues to be a need for in person Mandated Reporter Trainings. Everyone in the group, who was present, agreed with this.
2. Provide one training for trainers, with the idea that those trained could provide a minimum of one training within the fiscal year.
3. There was discussion that those who are trained would be part of the “Speakers Bureau”, and that the number of trainings provided and the number of individuals trained would be documented.
4. Increase Coordination of CAPC activities to include more agencies countywide: broader distribution of CAPC information. Greater visibility on websites.
5. Identify and assemble information to share with the community.
6. We did not have time to discuss the specific activities that align with HMG/Solano Kids Thrive workgroups. However, putting together a comprehensive list of agencies and other service providers whose primary focus is Child Abuse Prevention, Intervention and Treatment, that could be shared in a variety of ways is well within the scope of the Alliance/CAPC workgroup and contract.
Federal Funds Comprise Over One-Third of California’s State Budget, Supporting a Broad Range of Public Services and Systems

Federal dollars support a wide array of public services and systems that touch the lives of all Californians - from Social Security and health care to highway construction and public schools. A large share, but less than a majority, of this federal funding flows through California’s state budget. The current state budget includes nearly $96 billion in federal funds for 2016-17, the fiscal year that began last July 1. This is more than one-third (36 percent) of the total state budget, which also includes more than $170 billion in state funds for the current fiscal year.

Federal Funds Account for More Than One-Third of California’s State Budget
Total Enacted 2016-17 Expenditures = $266.8 Billion

More than 7 in 10 federal dollars that flow through California’s state budget – $69.3 billion in 2016-17 – support health and human services (HHS) for children, seniors, and many other Californians. Most of these federal dollars, roughly $58 billion, go to Medi-Cal (California’s Medicaid program), which provides health care services to more than 13 million Californians with low incomes. The second-largest share of federal funding for HHS programs – $7.7 billion – goes to the state Department of Social Services. These funds support child welfare services, foster care, the CalWORKs welfare-to-work program, and other services that assist low-income and vulnerable Californians.

More Than 7 in 10 Federal Dollars Spent Through the State Budget Support Health and Human Services

Federal Funds Estimated to Be Spent Through the State Budget in 2016-17 = $95.9 Billion

The remaining federal funds that flow through the state budget — an estimated $26.6 billion in 2016-17 — support a broad range of public services and systems. This includes $7.6 billion for K-12 education; $6.6 billion for labor and workforce development programs, primarily for unemployment insurance benefits for jobless Californians; $5.0 billion for higher education (the California State University and the University of California); $4.9 billion for transportation, primarily to improve state and local transportation infrastructure; and $2.5 billion for additional public services and systems, including environmental protection, the state court system, and state corrections.

The outcome of the November 2016 national election portends major cuts to federal funding for key public services. For example, Republicans have vowed to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA), which would include rolling back the recent expansion of Medicaid coverage to low-income parents and childless adults. This change alone would reduce annual federal funding for Medi-Cal by more than $15 billion. Other services are also at risk, including some that are funded with federal dollars that flow directly to Californians outside of the state budget — such as federal food assistance provided through the state’s CalFresh program and federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments for low-income seniors and people with disabilities. Republicans are likely to succeed in scaling back federal support in a number of policy areas. If so, state policymakers will face difficult choices about how to fill the resulting funding gaps in order to prevent the erosion of public services and systems that promote economic security and opportunity for millions of Californians.

Most federal dollars that come to California go directly to Californians without passing through the state budget. These “direct” federal dollars are provided through a number of funding streams, including Social Security, Medicare, the federal Earned Income Tax Credit, contracts with businesses that provide goods and services to the federal government, and the wages and salaries of federal employees. Federal fiscal year (FY) 2010 is the last year for which the federal government compiled all federal expenditures, by state, in a single report. For an analysis of the FY 2010 data, see Scott Graves, How Are Federal Dollars Spent in California? (California Budget & Policy Center: November 2011).
BREAKDOWN OF $400,533

LIFETIME PRODUCTIVITY
Victims are more likely to be unemployed and rely on public assistance and may face barriers to employment, which lead to diminished earning potential throughout adulthood.

EDUCATION
Abused children are 77 percent more likely to require special education.

CHILD WELFARE
Victims may require intervention services, foster care, and counseling services.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE
Abused children are 59 percent more likely to be arrested as juveniles, and 28 percent more likely to have an adult criminal record.

HEALTHCARE
Victims may require hospital care, mental health services, and other medical services throughout childhood, and have a higher incidence of chronic health problems, mental health issues, substance abuse, and risky sexual behavior throughout adulthood.

COMMUNITY RISK FACTORS
A variety of factors make individuals and families more vulnerable to abuse. Risk factors are often related to life experiences such as being a victim of abuse; other risk factors are biological predispositions such as mental illness or addiction, while some are a result of the community in which one lives.

SOCIO-ECONOMIC INEQUALITY
In recent years, San Francisco has had the ninth highest income inequality of all major cities and the third highest of all metropolitan areas in the U.S.

POOR SOCIAL CONNECTIONS & SUPPORT FOR FAMILIES
Rising costs push low- and middle-income families out of San Francisco. By the last census estimate, San Francisco had the lowest percentage of children among all major cities in the U.S. Immigrants and their children, who comprise 43 percent of the Bay Area population, face cultural and language differences, discrimination, and social isolation.

RESIDENTIAL INSTABILITY
In 2015, San Francisco was ranked the least affordable county for housing in California and since the 80's, housing prices have grown faster than every other U.S. city. In 2015, there were an estimated 3,222 homeless children in San Francisco — a 94 percent growth in less than 10 years.

STRESSFUL ENVIRONMENTS
In 2012, San Francisco had nearly double the national rate of violent crimes per capita. In 2015, unemployment among African Americans was more than double the city average, while unemployment among young workers was four times as high. San Francisco has 20 to 30 percent more liquor stores per capita than both the state and national average.

VIEW THE FULL REPORT: HTTP://SFCAPC.ORG/COSTOFABUSE
Child abuse is a persistent problem within San Francisco and the greater Bay Area. Although it is a hidden social ill, its impact is significant. A single incidence of child abuse impacts not just the child, but the family, the community, and society at large. In fact, child abuse is a core underlying factor to many of the ongoing struggles of this community, such as dropout rates, homelessness, high incarceration, and health concerns.

The devastating physical, mental, and emotional effects of abuse persist long after maltreatment occurs, and result in ongoing costs to every sector of our community. This report brings to light this largely ignored issue, and the negative impact it has on all of us.

Child Abuse Affects All of Us

Every 10 minutes, a child abuse case is reported in the Bay Area.

- 58,000 reports of child abuse in the Bay Area every year.
- 5,500+ reports of child abuse in San Francisco every year.
- 3.5+ million reports of child abuse in the U.S. every year.

753 verified cases were in San Francisco.

\[ \text{X } $400,533 \]
\[ \text{the cost per victim over the course of their lifetime.} \]

\[ $301.6 \text{ Million} \]

The same amount of money could send nearly 3,000 kids to college.

COST EXPLANATION

The lifetime economic burden per victim is $400,533, which is an indication of the financial importance to San Francisco of preventing a single child from becoming a victim. The total annual economic burden of child abuse in San Francisco is $301.6 million.

Given that child abuse is vastly underreported,

The total annual economic burden could be as high as $5.6 billion
